Candidates for State School Chief Evaluated

Editor, Torrance Herald:

After tuning in the debate between Dr. Max Rafferty and Dr. Richardson (who are running for the office of State Superintendent of Schools in California), I have decided the better man for this office is Dr. Rafferty.

Dr. Rafferty told the television audience to go to the people in the areas where he served in various educational administrative offices and talk with them about his record. Dr. Rafferty said this because his record of achievement wherever he has served has been outstanding. He has nothing to hide and said as much by referring all people to his past working associates and their communities for honest personal opinions.

Dr. Richardson did not offer the same invitation. I wonder why? One of the board members, Charles Reed Smoot, who has worked with Dr. Richardson on the Board of Education for three years, is publicly supporting Dr. Rafferty for these reasons:

"For all the children in California, I prefer the four R's—reading, 'riting, 'rithmetic, and Rafferty to the four S's—sychology, sociology, sandbox, and spending."

These words were spoken by a man who knows first hand the curriculum of our school children; he knows because he works on the School Board and still wants Dr. Rafferty in the office of Superintendent so that necessary changes for the betterment of our children's education can and will be effected. This statement by Mr. Smoot alone should convince the voters of our state that Dr. Rafferty is the man we need in this position.

Dr. Rafferty has had much success with every program he has instituted in his past administrative duties. He has the California educational credentials, he has the experience when it is required. But more than these, Dr. Rafferty has the lack of political connections and the internal fortitude to push ahead for real progress in education in California.

I found out the facts about Dr. Rafferty. I then volunteered to head a group of parents for Rafferty in my community. I ask all the people who want better education for their children to find out the facts. Then help your cause.

Etiquette Class To Open Shortly

Starting in Torrance is a new class on etiquette. This class will cover many fields of etiquette. The class is for both teen and pre-teen children. "Today just as much as yesterday our children should know the rules of good manners, from table to ballroom, from dressing to go to a football game to going to the formal dinner dance."

There will be a 45-minute lecture in a candlelighted room and following this the class will go to a large ballroom, where ballroom etiquette plus many dance steps will be taught.

"Let's remember the importance of one personality and remember that we can never have too many good manners."

For information on this class call 320-4084.
